NO CENTRAL POINT OF ENTRY

Where in the digital workplace should employees start their day, if they have no central overview?

INFORMATION OVERLOAD

Employees get huge amounts of information from various sources every day. How should they prioritize what's important?

USER ADOPTION

What can be done to lower entry barriers and help employees adopt new technologies and tools?

CHANGE MANAGEMENT

The digital workplace is growing rapidly. How can employees be helped to cope with the changes?

My Meetings

Give employees an overview of what's on their agenda today. Create new meetings with colleagues or jump straight into a Microsoft Teams meeting.

My Tasks

Let employees work with the task management tool they prefer. My Tasks collects all tasks in one place and gives an overview of which tasks should be prioritized.

My Apps

The number of applications and tools in the digital workplace is constantly growing. Let employees decide which tools are important to them, to allow easy access.

My Documents

Provide employees with an overview of which documents they recently worked on no matter where in Microsoft 365.

My Teamwork

Some employees prefer working in SharePoint sites, others in Microsoft Teams. My Teamwork builds a bridge between the collaboration islands in the digital workplace.
